Ethnic Day Celebration

The Oxford College of Arts celebrated its annual Ethnic Day on June 7, 2024, with great enthusiasm and cultural fervor. Faculty, students, and staff came together to showcase their rich heritage, traditions, and vibrant attire. Let's delve into the highlights of this memorable event.

The day commenced with the ceremonial lighting of the lamp, symbolizing the dispelling of darkness and the pursuit of knowledge. Our respected Principal, along with students representing diverse ethnic backgrounds, graced the stage for this auspicious moment.

Talented student Ranjith mesmerized the audience with a soulful song, capturing the essence of unity in diversity. His performance set the tone for the day.

First-year students Anuja V and Gowthami S showcased their dance prowess, celebrating various cultural forms. Their energetic performance left everyone spellbound.

Archana, a student of I BA, led an engaging riddles game, challenging participants' intellect. Laughter and quick thinking filled the room as students and faculty cracked the puzzles.

The grand finale featured a ramp walk where participants flaunted their exquisite ethnic outfits. The pride and elegance displayed were a testament to our college's cultural diversity.

The spotlight shifted to the winners. Chingkheiganba Thokchom, a first-year student, stood tall in his Manipuri attire—a vibrant ode to his roots. Kalyani, from the second year (BA), exuded grace in her beautiful soft silk saree. Jalak Patel, representing the third year (BA), wore a captivating pink saree, embodying the spirit of unity in diversity. The second-year class emerged as the best-dressed overall, their collective effort evident in every stitch. And a special mention went to Kavana, a first-year BA student, whose fusion ensemble bridged tradition and modernity.

Ethnic Day at The Oxford College of Arts transcended mere celebration; it was a vibrant tapestry woven with threads of unity, creativity, and cultural pride. As we bid adieu to this event, let us carry forward the spirit of diversity and appreciation for our shared heritage.
